Park City Donates $25,000 to the Hatchet Pride Project Credit Union Helps the Tomahawk Community Surpass $2 Million

TOMAHAWK, WISC. – Thanks to sponsors like Park City Credit Union, the privately funded Hatchet Pride Project surpassed $2 million in donations this month. As one of seven Platinum Sponsors, Park City presented a check for $25,000 to enhance the athletic facilities for the Tomahawk School District.

“Athletics teach important life lessons such as teamwork, resilience, courage and hard work,” said Park City CEO Val Mindak. “This plan calls for some state-of-the-art improvements to the facilities in Tomahawk and we are proud to be a part of the Hatchet team.”

Anticipated facility enhancement includes adding synthetic turf to existing football field space, completing a new eight-lane track with nine sprint lanes, improving field event areas and making the bleachers and press box compliant with the Americans with Disabilities Act. This includes a new entryway, concession and pavilion area.

Jon Long from the Hatchet Pride Project said, “The support from local businesses and community organizations has been incredible.” The organization continues to raise tax deductible donations at its website, HatchetPrideProject.com. Donations of $500 or more will be recognized on a donor wall.
